JEWISH FESTIVALS: ACQUISITIONS

Jewish Festivals: Acquisitions

You may not acquire items (kinyan) on Jewish festivals unless they are needed for that Jewish festival or for a mitzva. The classic example is bringing food or wine to a house for Jewish festival lunch, which the house owner acquires on the Jewish festival for the Jewish festival. Other permissible kinyan on Jewish festivals is giving:

- Siddur, machzor, or chumash to use on that day.
- Permissible medicine for use on that day.

On bringing mail or a newspaper into your house on Jewish festivals, see Jewish Festivals: Bringing Mail inside House and Jewish Festivals: Bringing Newspaper inside House.

© Copyright 2024 Richard B. Aiken | www.practicalhalacha.com