

Business Ethics

The Torah requires ethical behavior in business, as it does in all other areas of interpersonal behavior.

We must be honest in business. We may not cheat or mislead the customer or misrepresent what we are selling. We may follow whatever are the accepted norms for honest people in our area of business.